Commissioner David Reaves was elected to the Shelby County Board of Commissioners to represent District 3 (Raleigh, Bartlett, and Lakeland) on August 7, 2014 after serving on the Shelby County School Board for four years. He is a native of Shelby County, grew up in Memphis and attended Coleman Elementary until his family relocated to Bartlett, Tennessee. Commissioner Reaves graduated from Bartlett High School in 1994 then attended and graduated from the University of Memphis in 2000 with a Bachelor Degree in Business Management Information Systems.

Commissioner Reaves is currently a Information Technologies Manager for NIKE and understands what it means to help set corporate priorities to help corporate leadership track and fund solutions based upon limited resources with competing business objectives.
